The Godfather's House Numbers Rough Crossing

It's sheer coincidence, of course, but I finished reading my paperback copy of "The Godfather" Friday night only to discover in my own newspaper an advertisement that the film is playing at the Saenger theater through Wednesday.

Children over 14 will be admitted but only with parental consent, the theater ad says. I imagine so. This is a rough, adult story—the history of the Mafia, its Five Families in New York City, its Past in Italy, and its Future in Las Vegas.

The 446 pages of the book are spellbinders. No movie could possibly equal the book in suspense and violent action.

And yet Paramount Pictures has struck gold with the film. No less a journal than the financial oracle Wall Street Journal reported a month ago that "The Godfather" is joining "Gone With the Wind" and "The Sound of Music" as the three greatest boxoffice hits in screen history.

Perhaps Junior ought to go along just to keep his old man from jumping out of his skin. It's that kind of a story, and I should know, with a thousand Whodunits in my library, every one of them read.

Editor The Star: We all have our pet peeves. One of mine is house numbers. In my occupation I come in contact with them every day.

Most people may not realize it but there are a lot of homes in Hope that do not have numbers on them at all. Some have numbers that have been painted over so many times they are unreadable from the street.

There are some houses on the north side that do have numbers but there is as much as three blocks difference between the street markers and the house numbers.

For the benefit and protection of our citizens all houses should be numbered in contrasting colors clearly visible from the street.

We very often (as policemen) help the ambulance service crews locate an address. A few minutes delay could mean the difference between life and death.

As one of the lowly-paid public servants who has to have a second job (commonly called moon-lighting) I work in the Circulation Department of The Star, on which house numbers again are involved. Sometimes it's almost an impossibility for the department to answer a complaint and deliver the paper to a customer with an invisible house number.

Is your house number correct? Is it visible from the street?

Dec. 9, 1972
Hope, Ark.

A good letter, ending with a couple of good questions.

Some years ago Hope Lions Club performed a fine public service when it placed street names throughout Hope.

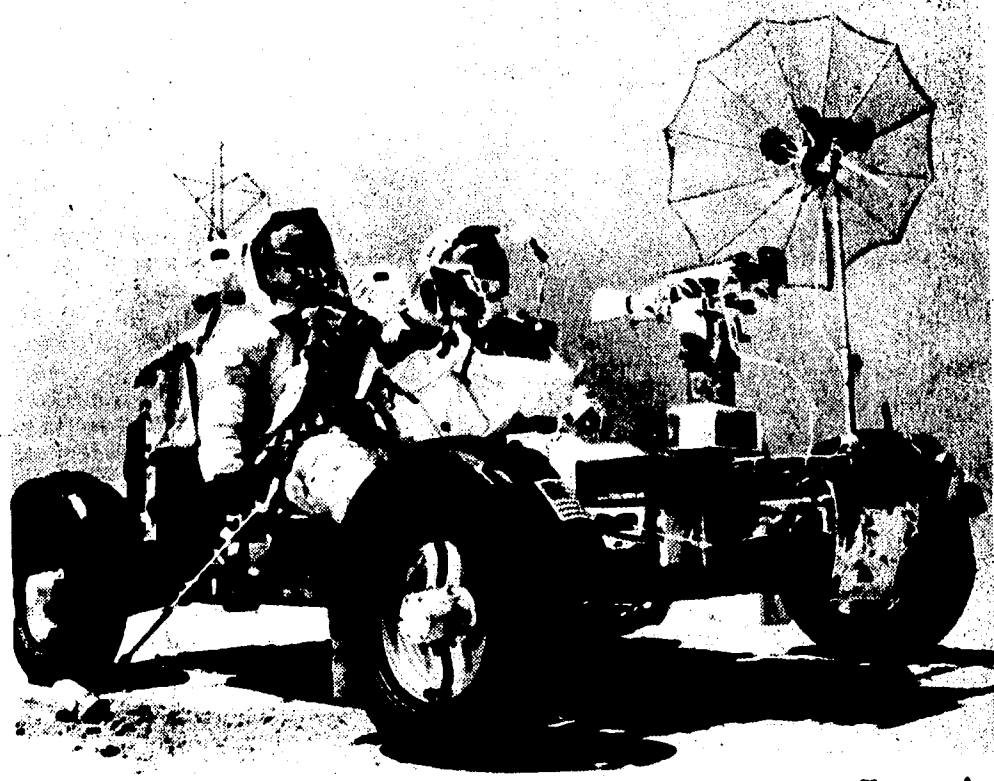

But house numbers are the responsibility of home owners or landlords. If there isn't a city ordinance requiring the posting of numbers, there should be. If you don't know your correct house number, pay a visit to city hall—you'll get the correct number there.

A correct house number is as important as the correct spelling of your name.

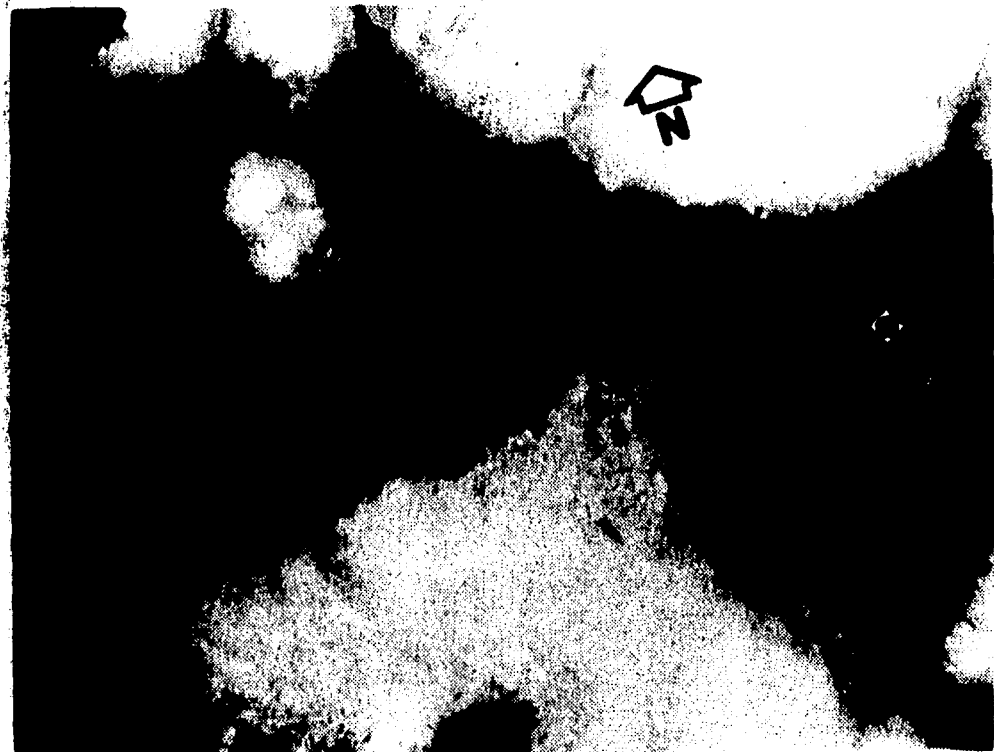

Changing the subject, do you suppose anywhere in the world there is a rougher railroad crossing than Walnut St. at the Missouri Pacific tracks?

The crossing was worked on, a while back. Before that it was bad—now it's impossible.

What has Missouri Pacific got against Hope to do this to us?

TOUCHDOWN POINT, circled at right, for Apollo 17, last scheduled manned moon mission, is in a rugged area of steep mountains and dark valleys named after the Taurus mountains, just to the north, and the nearby Littrow crater.

Apollo 17: Touchdown on surface of the moon

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Americans landed on the moon today for the sixth and perhaps final time in this century. Apollo 17's lunar craft Challenger touched down in a rugged box canyon for the start of a three-day search for knowledge.

Astronaut Eugene A. Cernan, a Navy pilot on his third space flight, and Harrison H. Schmitt, the first American scientist in space, guided Challenger over lunar mountains and down to the crater-pocked floor of the canyon called Taurus-Littrow.

Cernan and Schmitt will spend 75 hours on the moon, make three excursions in an electric car and collect about 200 pounds of rocks.

Apollo 17's third crewman, Ronald E. Evans, remained aboard the command ship, America.

Preparations for the landing went smoothly, with America and Challenger undocking and separating as planned.

Evans threw switches to undock the moon landing craft and Challenger sprang free.

Cernan and Schmitt began final preparations for a dive to a lunar touchdown at 2:55 p.m. EST and Evans started the three days of solo moon orbiting aboard America.

The astronauts awoke to music this morning, piped up to them by Mission Control at about 7:45 EST, as they completed their 10th orbit of the moon.

Cernan and Schmitt will spend the remainder of the morning putting on their space suits and starting up the systems of their lunar module for the 2:55 p.m. descent to the barren surface of the moon.

Ahead, for Cernan and Schmitt, were three days of exploration among the craters, hills and canyons of a steep-sided valley called Taurus-Littrow. As the 11th and 12th lunar explorers, they will walk and drive more than 20 miles over the valley floor searching rock and soil for secrets needed to complete the moon history already partially recorded through five earlier American landings.

The third Apollo 17 crewman, Ronald E. Evans, will remain in lunar orbit aboard the command ship America. He will probe the surface from above with an array of science instruments and special cameras.

America and Challenger, still locked nose-to-nose, swept behind the moon and out of touch with Mission Control at 2:38 p.m. EST Sunday. Eleven minutes later, they fired America's powerful service propulsion rocket engine to slow the speeding craft and settle it into lunar orbit.

As in past moon flights, Mission Control waited through the silence for word of a successful firing, this time for 22 minutes.

Then the spacecraft shot from behind the moon; and, from a quarter million miles away, Cernan's voice crackled into the control center:

"Thumbs up, America has arrived on station for the challenge ahead."

With their lunar goal at least near, the three spacemen let flow the joy and excitement of their view.

"We're breathing so hard, the windows are fogging up on the inside," said Evans, the first Vietnam veteran assigned a space mission.

Schmitt, the first American scientist in space, began a chattering catalogue of descriptions of what he saw passing below his window.

With a fluency nurtured by more than a decade of study at Harvard and other universities, the geologist told of craters and mounds and shattered mountains, calling each of them by name.

He stopped suddenly at one point and called out: "Hey, I just saw a flash on the lunar surface."

And the iceman cometh

Icy road conditions prevailed throughout the Hope area today (Monday) forcing the closing of all Hempstead County schools, and holding vehicular traffic to a minimum.

Travelers warnings were issued throughout the area late Sunday afternoon as freezing rain mixed with sleet began falling; bridges and highways became slick with ice last night.

A slight drizzle accompanied by temperatures in the mid-30s made streets and sidewalks in Hope extremely slick, and today's forecast calls for continued cold and wet weather through tonight.

A bulletin from the Weather Service today said "Motorists should continue to exercise caution and judgement while driving today due to the continued threat of slick and icy bridges and overpasses."

Strauss: Walking gingerly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Strauss has taken on the posture and peril of a tight-rope walker in his new job as national Democratic chairman with his pledge to "try to bring everybody back to this party."

In his campaign for the office which he won by a close vote Saturday at the Democratic National Committee's first post-election meeting, Strauss had the support of party conservatives and middle grounders, but he made a lot of enemies to the liberal-reform wing along the way.

Now, he has to keep them all happy while trying to bring back the defectors who fled to neutrality or the Republican camp during the national election.

Strauss danced gingerly Sunday around questions on what party role will be open to such people as AFL-CIO President George Meany and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who sat out the presidential campaign in pique over the nomination of Sen. George McGovern, or to John B. Connally who campaigned for President Nixon.

"I'm not going to start prejudging anybody right now," Strauss said on CBS' "Face the Nation."

"The first thing I ought to try to do is create a climate where all these factions can talk a little and communicate," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole said today he is resigning and that United Nations Ambassador George Bush of Texas has been picked to replace him.

Huge still is destroyed

County, state and federal law enforcement officers raided and destroyed a huge still in a barn just off State Highway 4 about four miles from Hope Sunday afternoon. The officers arrested one man, destroyed 2,200 gallons of mash and confiscated four steel cooking pots

Turning point in talks eyed as 'possible'

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho met for the 13th time in three weeks today at what may be a turning point in their secret negotiations on a Vietnam peace settlement.

President Nixon's security adviser and the North Vietnamese Politburo member met in an American rented villa in suburban Neuilly where they held several secret meetings last week. Their talks were recessed Sunday while experts of both sides met to discuss details of a possible cease fire agreement.

Except for a nine-day break, Kissinger and Tho have met almost daily since Nov. 20, when they began their current session to revise and finalize the agreement they drafted here in October.

During Sunday's recess, Kissinger's top aide, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., was in Washington conferring with Nixon.

Haig left Paris Saturday and met for several hours with the President Sunday. There have been reports the general would return to Paris immediately and soon thereafter go on to Saigon to give President Nguyen Van Thieu a personal report on the Paris Meetings. But White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said: "We don't have any plan set on that."

The meeting of technical experts Sunday resulted in speculation that the two sides had gotten to the point of checking the fine print of a draft peace agreement. But both sides continued their news blackout.

One indication that the talks might be at a turning point was the arrival from Moscow of another member of the North Vietnamese Politburo, Le Thanh Nghi. His visit had not been announced in advance, but presumably he came to confer with Tho about the negotiations.

Meanwhile, Hanoi Radio said that, because a cease-fire agreement had not been signed, the North Vietnamese people realize they cannot achieve their goals "without continuing the fight."

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese government said it has evidence North Vietnam intends to take over the South after a cease-fire agreement is signed.

Attend income tax refresher course

Seventy-six area residents attended a refresher short course on farm and small business income tax returns Friday at the Federal Building here; 29 were from Hempstead County. Other counties represented were Clark, Columbia, LaFayette, Little River, Miller, Nevada, Pike, Pulaski, Ouachita, and Union in Arkansas, and Bowie County in Texas, and one from Louisiana. At left above, members of the course listen intently as one of the instructors goes over some rules and regulations.

Court agrees to decide political support question

By BARRY SCHWED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to decide whether the federal government and the states may keep their employees out of political campaigns.

The issue will be decided in two cases. One, from the District of Columbia, involves the 1959 Hatch Act affecting 8.5 million federal and state workers. The other, from Ohio, involves a comparable state law.

The justices will hear arguments on the cases early next spring and come to a final decision by the term ends in June.

The 1959 federal law was struck down in July by a three-judge panel. The government appealed for review. The law bans all federal and state workers from a variety of political activities.

In the Ohio case, a three-judge panel came to an opposite conclusion: that the ban on partisan politics is fully constitutional.

In last July's 5-4 ruling on the Hatch Act, a district court in Washington said the law was overly broad and violated workers' First Amendment rights.

The two-judge majority held that a 1947 decision upholding the law was "outmoded by passage of time" and by subsequent rulings regarding First Amendment rights.

In opposing, the government called the law a "cornerstone of the merit civil service system."

The suit was brought by the National Association of Letter Carriers, six individual federal employees and six Washington area Democratic and Republican political committees.

All Around Town

Becky Mann, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mouson Mann and a student at Hope High, is the author of a poem, "Beauty," which appears in the current issue of the Arkansas Methodist.

Dr. John H. McClanahan, national alumni president for Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky., will bring the keynote address at the seminary's graduation exercises Dec. 18. He is a former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hope and is now serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pine Bluff.

William R. Painter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Painter of Hope, has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force. Sgt. Painter is an administrative specialist at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ark. He serves with a unit of the Strategic Air Command, America's nuclear deterrent force of long range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles. A 1964 graduate of Redondo Union High School, the sergeant received his B.S. degree in communications in 1966 from Southern Utah State College.

Doctors worried about condition of Truman

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The heart of Harry S. Truman continues to show irregularities in rhythm, doctors reported today, but the former president told them "I feel all right" and spent a restful night.

The 88-year-old Truman remained in serious condition this morning, hospital officials said.

A morning medical report from Research Hospital and Medical Center said Truman was asked Sunday night about 11 p.m. EST how he felt and he responded: "I feel all right." This came after his heart had developed irregularities.

Truman also was asked if he hurt anywhere, and replied "no," the hospital reported.

The next bulletin on his condition was scheduled for 10 p.m. EST. Sunday began on an optimistic note as the former president was taken off the critical list after four days of being near death, but today doctors reported "more frequent abnormalities" in the rhythm of Truman's heart.

A spokesman said he had no additional information about the latest development but said both Truman's personal physician and a cardiac specialist had returned to the hospital within an hour from the time the abnormal rhythm was detected at 8:45 p.m. EST.

The next medical bulletin was scheduled for 10 a.m. EDT Monday.

Two daytime reports Sunday said the former chief executive's pulse was in the 70s, his temperature less than 100 degrees and his physiological response improved. At one point, the 88-year-old Truman told a nurse he was feeling better.

But, beside the report of renewed cardiac difficulties, the latest bulletin said only: "There has been a slight decrease in blood pressure requiring medication to bring it to within normal limits. He is resting quietly and having no difficulties with respiration. Other physiological signs remain satisfactory. Doctors still characterize his condition as serious."

The spokesman also said Truman's wife, Beas, 87, and Margaret Truman Daniel, their daughter and only child, had been informed of the setback.

Peace frightening to some MIAs

By KATHERYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Peace is frightening; the prospect of the end of the Vietnam war holds terror, not joy, for some Navy wives whose husbands long have been missing in action.

"I'm super-depressed. I'm scared," said Nichi Stegman. Her Navy flier husband has been missing more than five years.

"I'm going to have to face up to death because I really think my husband has been dead for a long time," said a blonde young woman.

The Navy unofficially offers $10,000 to a woman who believes her husband is dead; the other doesn't.

Others, aware of profound changes in themselves in the long years of knowing their husbands are most likely dead, are awaiting the final word so they can remarry. Several already have.

In this coastal town with its nearby Navy base whose husbands are either prisoners or missing.

Two wives whose husbands went down in the same aircraft have differing opinions. One believes her husband is dead; the other doesn't.

Some wives are going to face death for the first time. I haven't seen a body. I haven't seen a casket. I haven't had a funeral for him."

The peace talks are getting on my nerves. It's such a grind. If the cease-fire doesn't come soon, there are going to be a lot of nervous breakdowns among some of the wives. We've just had it."

Lt. Cmdr. Alexander J. Palencar III was shot down in March 1967 in his 44th flight; attack plane 50 miles out of sea.

Navy planes were downed in 10 minutes but found no trace of him. They searched top and bottom.

His petite, dark-haired wife, who is in a constant state of reaching for great gifts of hope. Our part in the war is to come to terms with this war," said Leslie Palencar.

"We don't have any doubts about the reality that our husbands will have. They'll have emotional problems, but they'll have something ... they'll be home in the triumph of the war."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Peeping Thomasinas, Anyone DEAR HELEN:

Peeping Toms get arrested, right?

But a FEMALE "Peeping Tom" is only put down as a busybody. I'm a bachelor. I mind my own business. I don't sneak out at night and peer into my neighbor's window. I can't say the same for the woman next door. I have seen her footprints (not to speak of hearing them made) beneath my bedroom window. Once I pulled up the shade and there she was, probably figuring she'd catch me with a girl so she could spread it around the neighborhood. She drew a blank that night. Mumbled something about hunting snails (at 11:30 p.m.?) and hotfooted it home.

I never heard of a man reporting a Peeping Thomasina, but I'm about ready to blow the whistle on this nosy old girl. Any alternatives?—MRS. SNOOP'S NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR:

Why not sneak up as she's snooping, (preferably in your skivvies), give her your best leer, and invite her in for a "little drinkie"?

If she accepts — well, you've got a different kind of problem, so write me again.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You probably won't print this because it's the truth, and the truth hurts. What the English fellow said about American girls goes for American women, too. No wonder homosexuality is on the rise!

Except for a very few, modern females are disgusting. Who wants to be with a dame who is afraid her stupid, bleached, cotton-candy hairdo will get mussed up, her false eyelashes will come off, her make-up will smear, or that you'll discover she's wearing falsies? Who are they trying to fool by being so phony?

In addition, most are haughty, self-centered, snobbish, and have no principles. Married or single, they're only interested in competing against one another or outdoing their neighbors in material possessions or sex affairs. After all this cattiness, they pull the "friendship" act and leave the children at home with the husband evenings while they go out with other women, which makes them appear pretty queer, and maybe they are.

The next thing, they'll be inventing a way for us men to have the babies so they won't have to bother. —DISAPPOINTED MAN

DEAR MAN:

We love you too!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My wife can't get a physical examination from a male doctor without a female nurse in the room. But I just got out of the hospital and lemme tell you! Those female nurses play fast and loose with a man's body — and there's not a male in sight to protect him!

Mr. & Mrs. Blackwood honored at luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Cox, Sr., of Fulton, entertained Thanksgiving with a buffet luncheon honoring Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Blackwood.

The traditional Thanksgiving feast was served in the dining room from a table covered with a white linen and lace cloth centered with an arrangement of lavender chrysanthemums. All appointments were of silver. The sixteen guests dined at tables in the den and breakfast room area. These tables held arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums, and potted mums were placed in the foyer at the guest book.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Hodges, North Little Rock, parents of Mrs. Blackwood, and Miss Eleanor Seymour, Texarkana, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Blackwood, Buddy's parents,

ASTRO-GRAPH

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, December 12, 1972

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

Domestic affairs are particularly important to you this year. The breaks and some material benefits will come your way through family relationships.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): Though others may think it's wasteful, follow your charitable instincts to help one you feel needs you.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Devoting a portion of your day to some rewarding cause will eventually benefit you as much as it does others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Someone is confused and needs your help. You have the answer and it's fortunate for both parties.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): You're capable of handling very large ideas today. Put them into action. Allies won't be hard to find.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): Instinctively, you should know all the right moves where joint finances are involved today.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): A good day for projects directly affecting your family or home. All will share in the rewards.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Spend as much time as possible today with those close to you. You're lucky for one another.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): Sympathetic contacts have a deep understanding of your needs. This has certain advantages in financial affairs.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Good news is in the offing. You're fortunate today in matters that relate to communication.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): Conditions are developing that look promising in a financial sense. Help will come from a hidden source.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): One of your prominent acquaintances is working for your benefit. This is a fortunate friendship.

A fruit cake for giving

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Fruit cakes make popular desserts for all kinds of holiday affairs. These nuggets of nut-and-fruit-filled delights also are excellent gifts for the Christmas season. With a little aid from an adult, children can produce less-expensive gifts for friends and relatives that carry a very personal touch. For variety in the gift package, bake the Berry Fruity Cake in different-sized muffin pans, ovenware or molds that are wrapped as part of the gift.

BERRY FRUITY CAKE
1 cup vegetable shortening
2 cups firmly packed brown sugar

4 eggs
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 pound dried apricots, chopped

2 cups fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
1 pound golden raisins

1 cup chopped pitted prunes
2 cups coarsely broken walnuts

Cream shortening until light and fluffy. Stir in brown sugar. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in juice. Gradually beat in flour mixed with baking powder and salt. Stir in fruits and nuts. Spoon, spreading evenly, into

Bowl game countdown under way

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The countdown to the bowl games—and with them college football's national championship—is under way.

The regular season came to a close Saturday with one last game as 16th-ranked North Carolina turned back stubborn Florida 28-24 thanks to a late touchdown—Sammy Johnson's third of the game—and an even later call with just 13 seconds left that nullified an apparent Florida scoring pass and ruled it an incompletion.

Elsewhere, the four NCAA

College Division regional titles went to Louisiana Tech, Massachusetts, Tennessee State and North Dakota while East Texas State won the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics crown.

The first of the 11 major bowl games takes place one week from tonight when Iowa State meets Georgia Tech in the Liberty Bowl. The successor to Nebraska as national champion, though, should come from either the New Year's Eve Sugar Bowl between second-ranked Oklahoma and fifth-rated Penn State, or the New Year's Day Rose Bowl between No. 1 Southern California and No. 3 Ohio State.

Fourth-ranked Alabama, which meets No. 7 Texas in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, and sixth-ranked Auburn, which faces No. 13 Colorado in the Gator Bowl Dec. 30, are long shots.

The other major games find Arizona State and Missouri in the Fiesta Bowl Dec. 23, West Virginia vs. North Carolina State in the Peach Bowl and Tampa vs. Kent State in the Tangerine Bowl on Dec. 29. Louisiana State-Tennessee in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl and North Carolina-Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl Dec. 30 and Nebraska's defending but only ninth-ranked champions against Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Night.

In Saturday's College Division bowls, Louisiana Tech smothered Tennessee Tech 35-0 in the Grantland Rice Bowl at Baton Rouge, La.; Massachusetts whipped Cal-Davis 35-14 in the Boardwalk Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J.; Tennessee State beat Drake 29-7 in the Pioneer Bowl at Wichita Falls, Tex., and North Dakota outscored Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.

Delaware's national College Division champions turned down a postseason invitation.

East Texas State shaded Carson-Newman 21-18 in the NAIA title game at Commerce, Tex.

The controversial play in the North Carolina-Florida game was a pass from David Bowden to Vince Kendrick in the closing seconds. Mark Kane, the field judge, ruled Kendrick caught it out of the end zone.

New faces headline college basketball

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some of the "New Faces of 1973" may be big headlines in college basketball by the time the season ends in March.

To name a few there's Alvin Adams of Oklahoma, Campy Russell of Michigan, Kip McLane of Duquesne, John Garrett of Purdue, Larry Fogle of Southwestern Louisiana and James "The Fly" Williams of Austin Peay.

Adams, a 6-foot-9 freshman, paced the unbeaten Sooners to their sixth straight triumph with 18 points in a 61-58 squeaker over UNC-Charlotte Saturday night.

The 6-7 Russell led Michigan over Dayton 81-78 with 25 points while McLane helped Duquesne whip Jacksonville 82-73 with 12 points and 13 rebounds in the final of the Steel Bowl.

Garrett, 6-11, scored 21 points and pulled down 11 rebounds and the Boilermakers routed Texas Christian 101-70. Fogle, a frosh, hit on 16 of 18 shots from the field in the two games as the Ragin' Cajuns beat St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Marshall to win the Bayou Classic.

Williams, another frosh who is expected to make Austin Peay a power in the Ohio Valley Conference, scored 42 points and snared 15 rebounds in leading the Gobs over Pan American 107-80.

Kansas City defeats Atlanta Hawks

It was chilly in Kansas City and Cleveland but Nate Archibald and Rick Barry got hotter as Sunday evening wore on.

Archibald scored only four points in the first quarter but wound up with 41 to lead the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 130-115 National Basketball Association rout of the Atlanta Hawks.

Golden State's Barry went him four better—or, rather, four worse—scoring exactly zilch in the opening period and finishing with 36 as the Warriors shaded the Cleveland Cavaliers 103-100.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Lakers trounced the Portland Trail Blazers 127-101 and the Seattle SuperSonics defeated the Phoenix Suns 110-102.

In the only American Basketball Association contest, the Memphis Tams whipped the New York Nets 114-86.

Saturday's NBA scores: Boston 123, Cleveland 88; New York 120, Philadelphia 109; Baltimore 120, Kansas City-Omaha 112; Chicago 105, Buffalo 94; Detroit 107, Milwaukee 103; Phoenix 116, Portland 97.

Saturday's ABA results: Virginia 101, Denver 98; Dallas 129, Indiana 128.

KC-Omaha led Atlanta all the way in snapping a four-game losing streak and the Hawks' five-game winning string. The Kings piled up a 64-46 halftime advantage, despite 25 points by Lou Hudson of the Hawks, who took game honors with 43.

After his slow start, Archibald pumped in 19 points in the second period, eight in the third and 10 in the fourth before sitting down with 3:54 left.

Golden State trailed Cleveland from the outset—by 15 points in the third quarter—until Barry, who made all 16 of his free throws, canned a pair with 3:50 left for the Warriors' first lead. He made two more with 1:04 remaining for a decisive 101-100 edge.

Barry Clemens paced Cleveland by hitting 11 of 17 shots and scoring all his 24 points in the first three periods.

Los Angeles romped to its 17th triumph in the last 18 games behind Jim McMillian and Gail Goodrich. McMillian sank his first nine shots and wound up with 28 points on 11-for-13 shooting while Goodrich scored 24.

Spencer Haywood scored 32 points and grabbed 16 rebounds while rookie Bud Stallworth scored a season-high 21 points to pace the Sonics over the Suns. Stallworth put Seattle ahead for good with 3:20 left to play. Dick Van Arsdale topped the losers with 23.

Ladycats extend winning streak

By RICKY FAWCETT
Star Sports Writer

Taking a thirteen point halftime lead, the Hope Ladycats scored freely in the last two periods Friday evening to clobber Gurdon's Go-Devis, 57-18.

Once again the Ladycat guards put forth an outstanding effort as the Ladycats won almost everything, including their eight wins against no losses. About the only thing Gurdon had a chance to win was the unsportsmanlike conduct.

With Korny Coleman and Janet McCain hitting the first four points of the game, Hope was not to be cheated the rest of the way.

Gurdon fought back through the first quarter to within three, 9-6, but a two pointer by Gigi Gladney with ten seconds on the clock gave the Ladycats an 11-4 margin heading into the second stanza.

In a slow moving period, Hope hit only 10 points while the guards held Gurdon to two, thus giving the Ladycats a 21-8 halftime spread.

Looking for a more wide open ballgame in the second half, it just did not work in the third period.

Although Hope hit the first eight points of the half, that's all the Ladycats could muster, but Gurdon still held the lower end of the scoring, only getting four. This still left the Ladycats with a 17 point spread, entering the final stanza, Hope leading 29-12.

Things really picked up at that point as McCain, Gladney, and Pogo Griffin began finding the range, getting the ball from the hustling guards.

The reserves played out the remainder of the game, with the final score 57-18.

McCain hit 15 points and Gladney added 11, while the starting defensive trio of Mona Rowe, Betty Honeycutt, and Judy Reyenga must be mentioned for their fine efforts.

In the night's second game, the Bobcats took an early lead and zoomed to victory, 60-37. Shelton Cole and Ricky Brown led the Hope first half charge. The half ended with the Bobcats on top of a 32-21 score.

A strong fastbreak was the pattern for the second half as Hope completely outplayed Gurdon. With mainly substitutes playing, the game ended 60-37 in Hope's favor.

Brown finished with 16 points while Cole popped 14.

Monday night the Bobcats travel to Nashville to play in the Nashville Invitational Tournament.

Bags limit

Duck hunting season is in full swing across the state and Hempstead County has its share of avid duck hunters. Dean Roach, at left and Creighton Middlebrooks, both veteran duck hunters, bagged their limit of Mallards on a weekend hunt. Duck hunters are reminded the bag limit is four Mallards and possession limit is eight Mallards. The limit may contain many combinations but only four ducks per day.

Batting records released, Pirates are in the lead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, in winning baseball's National League East Division last season, led the league in hits, total bases, doubles and triples, and had four of the circuit's top 15 hitters — more than any other team.

Official batting records released over the weekend showed the Pirates, who lost to Western Division winner Cincinnati three games to two in the playoffs, had a team batting average of .274, compared with runnerup St. Louis' .260, and collected 1,505 hits to the Cards' 1,383.

Houston's 2,070 total bases were second to the Pirates' 2,180, but the Astros led in runs batted in with 660 to Pittsburgh's 654.

Pittsburgh players in the top 15 were Al Oliver, whose .312 average ranked him sixth; Richie Hebner .300; Manny Sanguillen .298; and Willie Stargell .293. Stargell was third in runs batted in with 112 and fifth in home runs with 33.

Outfielder Billy Williams' .333 average brought the Chicago Cubs their first individual league batting championship since Phil Cavarretta hit .355 in 1945. Williams also led in total bases with 348 and was third in home runs with 37.

Johnny Bench of Cincinnati was the nation run leader with 40, two more than San Diego's Nate Colbert, and also was tops in RBI with 125 to Williams' 121.

Atlanta outfielders Ralph

Garr and Dusty Baker were behind Williams in batting with .325 and .321. It was the second consecutive year in which Garr was runner-up.

Bench to undergo surgery

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds catcher John Bench shoved aside a load of "get well cards" and prepared to undergo surgery today for removal of a spot on one lung.

Outcome of the operation was to be the topic of a news conference at Christ Hospital at 9:30 a.m.

The Reds said Sunday that a statement would be read, and Dr. George Ballou, team physician, would be on hand to answer questions.

Dr. Luis Gonzalez, Bench's personal doctor, was scheduled to perform surgery for removal of the lesion detected during routine examination of players in September.

The National League's most valuable player in 1970 and 1972, Bench disclosed results of the examination last Tuesday. He underwent further testing last week. Following consultation with Gonzalez and Ballou, he decided to proceed with surgery although physicians said they believed the lesion was benign.

Simpson to stay in Buffalo

O.J. can still look on bright side

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Emerson Booser, no tortoise himself, says that O. J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills is undoubtedly the best half-back in pro football.

"O. J. makes three or four moves before he hits the line of scrimmage," said Booser, the Jets' star halfback. "No one — not Floyd Little, not Larry Brown, not me — has the fantastic ability to change directions on a nickel."

Unfortunately, O. J. has to work harder because you can't get two cents for his offensive line. Injuries and ineptitude have accounted for this.

Runners have been known to enjoy blocking. Yet Simpson is leading the American Football Conference in rushing without that luxury.

"I put my head down and turn on the old zoomer," says Simpson.

That's not altogether how he does it. Nimble as a butterfly, O. J. tucks the ball in the crook of his arm and goes darting in and out along the line, sniffing for a hole, peeking to see if maybe his guard or tackle has tripped and bowled over a shocked defender.

He has been used to pick up most of the yardage for the Bills, as well as to, sadly, save the quarterback. At the end of a recent game against the Jets, which the Bills lost 41-3, Simpson ran the last hopeless cluster of plays. Coach Lou Saban says it was not to help O. J. pick up ground on his rushing leadership.

"I told them not to pass because our line couldn't protect the passer," Saban said, recalling that one quarterback, Mike Taliaferro had suffered a shoulder injury when sacked. "And I didn't want to lose another one." So Simpson, a thoroughbred, became a Clydesdale.

Simpson, now in his fourth year in pro football, has suffered the artist's greatest agony: an inability to demonstrate his skills. In college he had been compared to Red Grange, was named college athlete of the decade and broke numerous national records as a star for the University of Southern California.

O. J. SIMPSON takes off, leaving a couple of New York Jets in his wake.

In 1969 he was drafted by the Bills. John Rauch was the coach then and for some oblique reason persisted in trying to make one of the world's most gifted runners a blocker and pass receiver. "We weren't enemies, but we didn't agree on football philosophy," says Simpson of Rauch. "I felt kind of worthless."

Harvey Johnson took over for Rauch and still there was little improvement. Chaos was created not only in the backfield; it spread throughout the team. The Bills lost more games (40) than any other team in pro football in those first three O. J. seasons.

"Last year was the worst part of my career in Buffalo," recalls Simpson. Optimism had burst. He was in the third year of his four-year contract, and was going to the front office to ask to be traded.

"I was sort of headed off," he said. He was told that Saban was to be the new coach. Simpson knew that Saban, former Denver coach, had men like Little and Cookie Gilchrist do a lot of running. In fact Little, Simpson will tell you, ran the ball last season exactly 100 times more than he.

So O. J. allowed himself wondrous thoughts. Before, he says, "I've been home and saw myself in Miami's backfield, with Miami's blocking, quite a few times." When he came to training camp, O. J. saw a dream come true. An offensive line was indeed emerging. Then, incredibly, Reilly, Goode, Jarvis, McKenzie, Cheek, Costa, Kindig, to name a few Bills' interior linemen, were hobbled. End of dream, resumption of nightmare.

How easy for the celebrated O. J. to pout. Yet he does not. "Hey," he says, bereft of deceit. "You play for 60 minutes. Forget the score."

"But I guess it's good to see the other side," he adds. "My wife says I'm more mature now. I look more toward security than the ego—the Super Bowl, my name in the papers. Before, I belonged to the public. Now I'm more of a married man. I sort of take my time. Once we never entertained, too much goin' on. Now, well, we invite people up to our place."

His heralded name came from college days. Although he has had decent enough pro running seasons before 1972 — leading his team in yards gained rushing with 667, 488, 742 — he has never even been in the Pro Bowl. This season he will surely gain over 1,000 yards (the runners' milestone) and a place in the NFL all-star game.

He says he is not considering playing out his option next season. "I don't think it would be right for the other guys here who can't get out — if that's the right word," he said. "We've lost together and we're going to win together. I really think we're starting to put it together. This might sound crazy but this is going to be my worst off-season because I can't wait to come back next season."

The Pack is back in playoffs

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Pack is back—mainly back in the playoffs. San Francisco is back in first place. Pittsburgh is back, a game ahead of Cleveland. And Miami ... well, the Dolphins are where they've been all National Football League season.

"We deserve the championship," Green Bay Coach Dan Devine said after his Packers had gotten just that—the championship of the National Conference Central Division, their first title since 1957 when they were in the Vince Lombardi era.

They literally brutalized Minnesota in the second half Sunday, holding the Vikings to a mere five offensive plays and turning a 7-0 deficit into a 23-7 crunching spearheaded by running backs John Brockington and MacArthur Lane and rookie defensive back Willie Buchanon.

Brockington became the league's first player to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his first two seasons as he churned up 113 yards against the Vikings. And Lane added 80 yards, setting up the first of three Chester Marcol field goals with a 37-yard dash and scoring later from three yards out.

Buchanon took charge in the third period, first intercepting a Fran Tarkenton pass and running it back 25 yards to set up Lane's score, then throttling a Minnesota drive by picking off another pass at the Green Bay 18 on the last play of the period.

In Sunday's other action, San Francisco silenced Atlanta 20-0, Pittsburgh slipped past Houston 9-3, Miami downed the New York Giants 23-13, St. Louis upset Los Angeles 24-14, Detroit tied Buffalo 21-21, Kansas City beat Baltimore 24-10, Denver shellacked San Diego 38-13.

Coaches name state team

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hot Springs, champion of AAA-West, and Jonesboro, winner of AAA-East, placed six players each on their respective all-conference teams selected by the league coaches.

Hot Springs' representatives included quarterback Tommy Koonce, defensive lineman William Watkins, ends Pete Campbell and James Walker, guard Curtis Ridgeway and defensive back Don Garner. Koonce was named the outstanding back in the conference and Watkins the outstanding lineman.

Robert Spear of Jonesboro and Harvey Hampton of Forrest City share the honor as the outstanding lineman in AAA-East. The outstanding back award was shared by Virgil Percy of Little Rock, McClellan and William Ball of West Memphis.

The remainder of the AAA-West team includes: tailback Gerald Marshall, defensive end John Maye, guard Dick Gotcher and center Noel Newton, all of Fort Smith Southside; defensive end John Christie, tackle Mike Dunnaway and defensive back Larry Smith, all of Conway; guard Gary Orr, running back Kenny Gibbons and defensive back Tony Williams, all of Springdale; line-backer Mike Billingsley, guard Richard Fulkner and defensive back Randy Elliott, all of Conway; tackle Larry Clark and line-backer Charles West, both of Fayetteville; Wendell Van Es of Russellville and defensive back Billy Price of Texarkana.

In addition to Spear, Jonesboro landed backs Donnie Tension and John Kitterman and linemen Lloyd Goff, Preston Miller and Joel Mullins on the AAA-East team. In addition to Hampton, Forrest City is represented by offensive backs Ted Parker and Ronnie Rogers and defensive backs Jimmy Rogers and Jim King.

The remainder of the AAA-East team includes: Percy, lineman Robert Baxter and Sylvester Loving and defensive back Larry Hall, all of McClellan; Ball and offensive linemen Enoch Cook, both of West Memphis; defensive back David Dilley defensive lineman Wally Cox and offensive linemen Ricky Agee, all of Helena; offensive lineman Bruce Lawrence and defensive lineman George Belew, both of Jacksonville; offensive lineman Bill Stinick of Blytheville and running back Randy Gresham of Sylvan Hills.

New England defeated New Orleans 17-10 and Chicago topped Philadelphia 21-12. On Saturday, Cleveland edged Cincinnati 27-24 and Dallas turned back Washington 34-24. Tonight, the New York Jets face the Raiders in Oakland.

The 49ers made a pair of Bruce Gossett field goals stand up for three periods, then broke things open against Atlanta with a pair of Ken Willard touchdown plunges as they moved half a game ahead of the Falcons.

"We already knew what we had to do," San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said as his team faced playoff elimination. Then, looking ahead to a final game against Minnesota, one which the 49ers must win to assure themselves of the NFC West title, he added: "We've

Dallas Cowboys

Seventh year in playoffs

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The Washington Redskins may be the champions of the Eastern Division of the National Conference, but the runnerup Dallas Cowboys believe they have the psychological edge going into the playoffs.

The Cowboys earned a "wild card" ticket with a 34-24 victory over the Larry Brown-less Redskins Saturday in a National Football League game before a national television audience.

Dallas is now in the NFL playoffs a record seven consecutive years and center Dave Menders says: "This game established our confidence and destroyed theirs (Washington's) for the playoffs. We had consistency and eliminated turnovers. If we play this way the next four weeks we'll get our Super Bowl crown back."

Quarterback Craig Morton of the Cowboys said "I wanted this game very badly. I tried to get everybody going and fire them up. We were in a dogfight to the end, but there was no way we were going to lose. We want to keep our momentum going by beating the (New York) Giants next week."

The Cowboys management even resorted to a cheerleading public address announcer to try to pump up the Dallas crowd. He shouted: "Go ... Go ... Go ... Go ... Go" when the Cowboys had the ball. When the defense took over, he boomed "Doomsday ... Doomsday ..."

Linebacker Lee Roy Jordan of Dallas liked it. "That's the first time I've heard the whole stands cheering together for the Cowboys," Jordan said. "I thought it was good. If the people here are not going to be proud of a team with our record, what are they going to be proud of?"

Jordan said the victory over Washington "helped our younger guys ... Our veterans know we can win, but the younger ones need to know ... REALLY know."

Dallas is now 10-3 for the season and Washington is 11-2.

Redskins Coach George Allen spoke of "momentum" after the game because it was Washington's first loss in nine consecutive outings.

"Since we lost today ... we don't have momentum—the hell with momentum," said Allen. "We've got to get ready for next week's game (Buffalo). It's (momentum) a cliché passed on and on and on. If you guys have been around football long, you know this game could have gone the other way the second half. We had them on the ropes, but we gave up the football."

Allen added "That's no fun losing after you've been winning ... It's no damn fun losing."

Men's Indp. basketball scoring

Here are the results of Thursday, Dec. 7 games at Guernsey Gym: In the first game at 7:00 p.m. Anderson-Frazier downed Zeco by the score of 102 to 87. Barnes and Smith were the leading scorers for the winners with 40 and 23. Townsend had 23, and Sooter sank 21 for the losers. In the second game at 8:30 p.m. Davis Discount defeated Tex-Ark. 88 to 77. Leading scorers for Davis Discount East and Powell with 22 and 19 respectively. Boyette pumped in 25 and Lee shot 20 for the losers.

Next games are scheduled for Tuesday, December 12 when Anderson-Frazier plays Butane Gas at 7:00 o'clock, and at 8:30 p.m. Perry's takes on Davis Discount.

Travelers manager returns

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Carl Sawatski, general manager of the Arkansas Travelers, says Fred Koenig will return to manage the Travelers next year.

Koenig, 41, managed the Travelers in 1972 when they finished 65-74, 18½ games behind Alexandria in the Eastern Division of the Texas League.

"We are very satisfied," Sawatski said Saturday. "We were impressed with Fred last season. He's one of the hardest working baseball men I've ever been around."

Sawatski said the "cupboard was a little bit bare" at the AA level last year.

WORLD OF WORK

Health May Determine Benefits Eligibility

By SECRETARY OF LABOR JAMES D. HODGSON

L. R. of Trenton, N. J., writes: I'm 55 years old and have worked all my life. A few years ago I developed arthritis and the doctor suggested I move to a warm climate. I would like to know if I will be eligible for unemployment insurance if I am out of work for a while.

Dear L. R.: Unemployment benefits are paid in accordance with the law of the state in which the worker earned his qualifying wages. Claims under those laws can be decided only by the state officials who are responsible for administering the law. Unemployment compensation is intended to compensate workers for lack of work. In some states, a worker may be eligible if he can show that he left his job for "good cause." Leaving the job for health reasons may be good cause in some states, but not in others. It is impossible to determine whether an individual will be eligible for benefits prior to the time he files a claim. You may get more information at your local Employment Security Office.

D. J. of Charleston, S. C., writes: Can a company force an employee who has worked for them for 30 years to retire before age 65, and then hire another employee to replace him? The employee is still able and qualified to perform the job.

Dear D. J.: The Age Discrimination in Employment Act prohibits employers of 25 or more employees from discharging workers aged 40 to 65 because of their age. However, if the employee you mention participates in a retirement plan which states that he must retire after a certain number of years, such as 30 years, but he is not yet age 65, his discharge may not be in violation of the Act. Check with the nearest office of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division to be sure. It's listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

D. L. of Montpelier, Vt., writes: I hear the law requiring equal pay for equal work now covers highly paid employees. Please explain.

Dear D. L.: Last summer President Nixon signed an amendment to the Equal Pay Act which extends the law's protection to previously exempt executive, administrative, professional employees and outside sales people. These employees must work for companies or institutions now covered by the Federal Wage and Hour Law. For the first time, an estimated 15 million persons in these types of jobs will be protected from sex-based wage discrimination.

M. S. of Corvallis, Ore., writes: Could you please tell me how unemployment statistics are compiled and how accurate the figures are?

Dear M. S.: The Bureau of Census surveys the unemployment situation for the Bureau of Labor Statistics. They define unemployed persons as all persons who did not work during the survey week, who made specific efforts to find a job during the previous four weeks and who were available for work during the survey week. About 50,000 households are surveyed. Since the estimates are based on a sample, they are subject to some sampling variability. However, given the relatively large size of the sample, the data derived from it are subject to relatively small errors. For example, the chances are 90 out of 100 that the over-all number of unemployed—currently close to five million persons—is accurate within plus or minus 150,000.

Mandate for Japan minister

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's Liberal-Democratic party won a general-election mandate today for his plan to remodel the face of Japan. But strong Communist and Socialist gains raised the threat of trouble in carrying out the program.

The conservative party that has ruled Japan since 1948 won 271 of the 491 seats in the lower house of the Diet, and support from 14 conservative independents who were elected could bring the government's majority to 79.

That would be 24 votes short of the majority in the last house. The Liberal-Democrats lost 26 seats in the election that drew 53 million voters.

The Socialists again ran second, with 118, a gain of 31, while the Communists nearly tripled their total with 38, the highest ever in 12 postwar elections. In the old house, they had 14.

The big losers, with the Liberal-Democrats, were the middle-of-the-road opposition. Campaigning in his first national test since becoming prime minister in July, Tanaka made a major issue of his program to resettle millions of people and scores of major industries in less populated areas.

The Socialists and Communists charge that Tanaka's plan would spread pollution over the entire archipelago. They will be gunning for more gains in 1976 and, if they get them, could throw roadblocks in the way of the program, which would take years to carry out.

In a postelection television appearance, Tanaka said he would press ahead with his plan and said his first step would be to create a new administrative agency to carry it out.

Tanaka said his first priority internationally would be to shave down Japan's huge trade imbalance with the United States. He added that, although Japan will not take part in any postwar political conference on Vietnam, it expects to contribute to its reconstruction.

Tanaka conceded that the Liberal-Democrats had fallen 10 seats short of what he had hoped for. He said he was as-

Rocks can't talk, but oh, what they can tell...

By C. G. McDANIEL

AP Science Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Rocks can't talk, of course; but, oh, what they still can tell.

Maybe, just maybe, when Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt step onto the moon tonight, they will find one that will hold the key to the history of the universe.

From dusty gray, white and black rocks gathered on five previous Apollo missions, science has learned much about the earth and the moon.

But these samples also have raised many questions, and mysteries still remain.

And now, the last Apollo gives 20th century man one more chance to find the rocks that will solve the basic puzzle of evolution.

So far, 594 pounds of lunar rock have been returned to earth by lunar missions.

In a $54 million endeavor, 800 scientists from the United States and 17 foreign countries have studied samples of those rocks to learn how the moon and earth are alike and how they're different.

Another 200 pounds will be collected by Cernan and Schmitt, a professional geologist, during their three seven-hour walks in the Taurus-Littrow area of the moon.

It could be that one of the rocks they bring back will reveal what remains to be known about the moon.

If the area in which the Apollo 17 lunar module lands is of volcanic origin, then rocks there will have been heaved up as lava from deep inside the moon.

These would indicate something about the character of the moon's interior. And, from this, scientists perhaps could learn missing links in the history of the moon.

Important questions which remain to be answered include:

—Where did the moon come from and how was it formed?

—Is there water in the moon; was there ever any?

—Does the moon have a molten core such as that of the earth?

—Are there still active volcanoes there?

From previous moon explorations, it has been estimated that the moon is about 4.6 billion years old — about the same age as the earth.

Yet no rock has been found which dates to this time.

"It will be only through chance that we will ever find one," a scientist remarked at a conference on moon research earlier this year.

That rock — a survivor from an unbelievably ancient time of beginnings — could be discovered in the valley of Taurus-Littrow and returned to earth by Apollo 17.

Boyleing it down

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Anderson is tall and handsome, looks like a rising young life insurance salesman, and shakes hands with a grip so firm you figure he must spend his spare time cracking walnuts between his fingers.

But at 35, having overcome the handicap of a college education, Bill is one of the nation's top ten country music stars and author of more than 500 songs.

Contrary to tradition, he wasn't born in a hollow in the hills with a guitar in his hands. Search through his neatly cut hair and you'll find nary a hayseed in it. Bill is no more of a yokel than any other businessman who grosses more than $1 million a year.

Anderson and his six-man group, "The Po' Boys," will travel some 100,000 miles in a specially designed bus this year and give nearly 200 concerts.

They also have a weekly television program, "The Bill Anderson Show," which is syndicated to more than 120 stations.

Bill, South Carolina-born, worked as a disc jockey and a sports stringer for the Atlanta Constitution while getting a degree in journalism at the University of Georgia.

Journalism's loss became country music's gain when Bill began beating around the country in an ancient car, earning $50 a night with his friend, Roger Miller, when they worked. Now his group gets up to $5,000 a concert.

His future life began to form for Bill when he was 13 and a neighbor down the street showed him how to plunk out a few basic chords on an old guitar. Bill took it from there.

"I can't read music, but I can write it," he said. "I feel music very deeply. I don't know whether that means I have an ear for it or not."

Strauss

by Bumpers

Dale Bumpers of Arkansas says those that believe Robert Strauss will repeat failure of the Democratic party "are wrong."

Strauss, a Dallas lawyer, was elected Saturday by the Democratic National Committee to replace Mrs. Joan Westwood as the national chairman of the Democratic party.

"I think he's disturbed that some reformers want to go far, but I also know he agrees with many of them," said Bumpers, who supported Strauss for the position.

Bumpers, chairman of the Democratic Governors Caucus, said he decided to support Strauss because "I thought he had the best chance of unifying the party."

"I thought he was popular with the congressmen and with the governors, and he didn't represent any ideological wing of the party," Bumpers said. "I just thought he was the best choice through several who were considered."

Bumpers said he was pleased that Strauss was on the first ballot. "I don't believe there was any other choice."

Pellagra rare in the U.S.

Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Reader—This is a disease caused by a vitamin deficiency.

of niacin (also known as nicotinic acid and nicotinamide). This disease, which never occurs in the United States. It was quite common in the southern United States in the 1930s and I know from your letter that this is your trouble. Many families in those days ate a diet heavily dependent on corn and hominy grits from the corn that had been degerminated, and as a result, their diet didn't have sufficient niacin. Today the problem is almost entirely in areas where the diet primarily consists of corn.

Even in areas of the world where the diet isn't very rich by our standards and corn is a major staple, if people also use lots of mature bean seeds, they don't develop pellagra. The mature bean seed is an excellent vegetable source of protein and it serves adequately to prevent pellagra and a number of deficiency diseases. It is perhaps one of the most neglected foods available to us. Not only is it rich in protein, it is low in fat, and most varieties of mature bean seeds contain an appreciable amount of calcium as well as some iron. The common white bean or navy bean is an excellent choice.

Besides mature beans, other good sources of niacin are lean meat, fish, poultry, whole grain cereals and enriched breads and enriched flours. Individuals with pellagra have a variety of symptoms which include weakness, fatigue, loss of appetite and the general digestive disturbances which include abdominal distention, diarrhea and pruritis. In the advanced form there is inflammation of most of the mucous linings of the body which results in a sore mouth and tongue and inflammation of the lining of the entire digestive tract. It can also result in inflammation of the urethra and vagina. Advanced cases can cause a variety of mental symptoms from simple anxiety and irritability to disorientation, delirium and hallucinations.

One of the features of the disease is a dermatitis. It may look like a mild sunburn in early stages and is characteristically affects the areas of the skin that are exposed to the sun. As the condition advances the skin becomes thicker and scaly.

In the presence of niacin deficiency or pellagra, there are usually multiple vitamin deficiencies including thiamine (B-1). This can result in burning feet. Usually if you have one significant vitamin deficiency you will find that there are other vitamin deficiencies. Individuals who are obtaining an adequate diet may sometimes develop pellagra and other vitamin deficiencies if they have an absorption problem and can't properly absorb foods and vitamins from the digestive tract. This can occur in alcoholics, individuals with cirrhosis of the liver and people with chronic diarrhea from other causes.

In otherwise normal people the problem can be prevented with an adequate diet, and if for any reason there is any question about obtaining an adequate balanced diet, a regular daily vitamin which contains at least the minimum daily requirement should be taken. This is a good idea for people who are not likely to consistently eat an adequate diet. Vitamin pills alone will not replace a good healthy diet, but they will help.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1557, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Balanced Diet" booklet.

Seven die on highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven persons were killed in traffic accidents on Arkansas highways during the weekend.

The Associated Press Count of traffic deaths began Friday at 6 p.m. and ended Sunday at midnight.

Franklin Basher, 41, of Mayflower was killed Sunday night when his car was struck by a Missouri Pacific freight train at a crossing in Mayflower.

State Police said it was sleeting and roads were icy at the time of the accident.

Two other persons were killed in traffic mishaps Sunday.

The Rev. Jerubbaal G. Evans, 61, of Texarkana was killed in a two-car crash about one mile north of Texarkana on U. S. 67. Police said a car driven by Tom Hazel, 51, of Doddridge (Miller County) crossed the center line and struck the Evans vehicle. Hazel was hospitalized at Texarkana.

One person died in a crash Sunday night on Interstate 55 near Wilson. State Police said there was no identification on the body and an investigation was under way in attempt to determine the victim's identity.

The other weekend victims were Richard Davidson, 44, of Elaine; Joseph E. Shepard, 61, of Rogers and Dolly Sue Hale, 35, and her two-year-old daughter Dabre, of Benton. All were killed Saturday.

Business mirror

By JOHN CUNNINGHAM

NEW YORK (AP) — The argument for dropping wage-price controls this coming April has been undermined by the decidedly bad news that wholesale prices rose strongly in November after showing signs of settling down.

It isn't likely to be the only bad news either, because there is an inclination in expanding industrial economies for wages and prices to seek ever higher levels. It is unthinkable that they should fall.

It is so in Canada and Britain and Germany and Italy and France and Japan and every other nation dedicated to using the limit its resources, physical and human, so as to keep the greatest number working at the highest wages.

Compared to some European nations, the United States has done a superb job of tacking the price issue. The rate of inflation has been reduced to about 3.5 per cent, while in Europe it is rising above 6 per cent.

But there are developing patterns in the United States suggesting that while it was courageous to renege the built-in wage and price controls, it will be another thing to wrench the enervated animal to the ground.

Wholesale price increases generally precede retail price rises sometimes by only a matter of weeks, as with food, a major factor in the big six tenths of one per cent rise in November.

Adding ammunition to the argument for a retention of controls is the fact that spending pressures remain strong throughout the economy—in business, consumer and government categories—and likely will remain that way.
